Cleril: Where it all started

I had no friends, the only family I had was the bad guy, I was treated differently. Dragons would look at me and see a monster, Queen Scarlet's killing machine. Dragons would have hatred or fear sometimes both in their eyes as the stared at me, all the dragons except Clay. Everything changed when I met Clay, he treated me like another dragon, another normal dragon.

"Peril! You can change!" Clay had said to me.

"Can't you see? Even if I do change I can't escape her!" I had yelled back.

"We can start a new life, and I'll protect you from her!" Clay had sounded so confident and had the sparkle in his eyes, the sparkle she had loved.

"Then you'll get hurt in my place!"

"Peril, I'm not afraid of her and what she can do!"

"But I am Clay, I'm scared!"

Chaos had erupted around them as Queen Scarlet's once beautiful and menacing face was being disfigured due to Glory's venom. But even with the sounds of screaming and death the world seemed to freeze around Clay and I. I could look into his eyes and I knew that he wasn't lying, he really did believe that she could change. That the dragon that everyone feared, the dragon the was the monster that would burn people to death could change.

I hope you enjoy my second ever fanfic!!!!

Cleril: Jade Mountain

It's been a couple of years since I've seen Clay, and I miss his warm and welcoming smile. I've made my decision! I'm going to Jade Mountain to see Clay!

Peril's wings were sore from flying, but she was so close. She was so close to seeing him again, as she daydreamed of how Clay would just see her and confess his love for her she stared at the sun as it made it's way to the middle of the sky. You are the only one that's like me, we both have hearts of fire, but you are not him. You are not my beloved Clay. She no longer felt the pain in her wings and felt the air pushing past her. Clay. The name that flooded her dreams, the dragon that would be there when she slipped into the world of dreams. Peril closed her eyes and thought of how Clay would be so happy to see her. Peril opened her eyes and gaped at the view in front of her. It was a beautiful lush, green mountain, but the beauty wasn't what made her excited, what made her excited was that she was going to see Clay again. What laid in front of her was her soon-to-be home. They say home is where the heart is, well my home is right in front of me. My home is wherever Clay is, my beloved Clay.

Peril drifted into the entrance of Jade Mountain and chaos exploded around her. She shrunk back at all the hurtful screams that were directed towards her.

"SHE'S GONNA BURN US ALL!"

"WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE!"

"IT'S QUEEN SCARLET'S MONSTER!"

But there was one particular comment that broke of a little piece of her soul, a little piece of her heart.

"How could Clay ever love that?"

Anger stirred inside Peril and she felt the urge to find Clay and leave with him. They could start a life together, and no other dragons would be there. Then she felt a heart jump, she felt like an arrow just pierced her heart. In front of her was her beloved, her Clay.

Cleril: My Beloved

Starflight ran into the room and yelled, "AN EVIL SKYWING?!?! IS IT SCARLET?!?!?!"

"It's Peril," Fatespeaker reassured him.

Peril winced at all the noise and chaos, but she felt the world slow down when she saw a particular dragon running down the halls toward her. It was her beloved, her beloved Clay.

"Peril! Is that really you?"

"Clay, Clay you're actually here?"

Clay walked closer to Peril with his wings outstretched, and he gave her a hug, it was the first hug she had felt in years, and it was from her beloved.

That was when I came to Jade Mountain, when I came to my new home, and the best part about was that Clay was there. It's been a few days since Clay welcomed me in outstretched wings.

Peril's thoughts were interrupted by a large BOOM! Her bedroom shook and a picture of the three moon fell and crashed onto the floor. Peril raced out of her room and saw Clay running down the halls. She tried her best to catch up with him and she succeeded.

"What's happening?!" Peril yelled out to Clay.

"There's been an explosion in the history cave!"

Cleril: Everything I've Known

Peril kept running with Clay until they reached the history cave. All Peril saw was chaos, it was even more chaotic then when she came to Jade Mountain. She saw a crying RainWing Kinkajou, I think. and all she was saying was Tamarin, A NightWing crumpled on the ground and an IceWing with a bewildered face. She also saw Clay's sister, Sora, she was in the corner saying 'I didn't mean for this to happen'. The IceWing separated from the NightWing and stared at the fire, horror in his eyes. Clay tried to calm everyone down and get answers from the dragonets that witnessed the explosion. Well, if Clay's helping then I think I should help too. Peril ran into the cave and all she saw was smoke. Peril coughed a little before seeing the limp SkyWing on the ground. She grabbed the SkyWing's limp arms and dragged the SkyWing to the entrance of the history cave and dropped her in front of Clay.

"See if you can help this dragon!" Peril yelled at Clay.

Clay nodded at Peril making eye contact with her. Peril hurt to see her beloved's sparkling eyes flooded with fear and horror. Another IceWing came down the hall running towards the limp SkyWing Peril had dragged out, the IceWing used his frostbreath on the dragonet. Peril ran back into the cave and searched for any other dragons when she heard something.

"H-Help." A voiced coughed, "Please, please help me."

Peril ran back out and yelled at Clay.

"There is a dragon in there that's still alive and possibly suffering!"

Peril stared into Clay's eyes as more panic swarmed his expression. She watched Clay turn around and run towards the IceWing that Peril saw before. He was still standing in front of the cave unable to move. Clay yelled something at the IceWing and Peril saw him nod. The IceWing started breathing frost breath into the cave.

"NO STOP!" I yelled at the IceWing.

The IceWing stopped bewildered.

"What are you doing Peril?!"

"If he uses frostbreath he might kill the dragon!"

"Then what are we supposed to do?!"

"I can go in and try to protect the dragonet." Peril said as she ran back into cave.

Peril looked for the dragonet, but it was a challenge due to the smoke clouding her eyes. I have to find this dragonet, I'm not a monster, I'm not a monster. I'll find this dragonet, for Clay. Peril found the dragonet and got in front of her.

"W-what are you doing?" The dragonet managed to squeak those last words out before she fell unconscious.

Peril looked down at the dragonet and tried to say everything will be ok but smoke clogged her throat. Suddenly she felt a chill run down her spine and Peril tore her eyes away from the dragonet to face the entrance of the cave. Ice and frost started to crawl and invade the now ruined history cave. Peril saw the IceWing run in and drag the RainWing out of the cave, Kinkajou following him sobbing. Peril barely recognized the dragonet as a RainWing, for her scales were burnt to a black and looked like a NightWing. Tsunami and Sunny were at the entrance talking to Clay when they say the burnt RainWing, they quickly grabbed her and ran down the hall towards the medical cave. When Clay stared into Peril's eyes he said six heart shattering words.

"We need to talk to you." With that Clay turned around and walked down the hall leaving Peril with her heart shattered.

They're gonna banish me, they think I did this. They're gonna seperate me from everything I've ever known, my new home and, C-Clay.

Cleril: False Family

Cleril followed Clay while keeping her head down. She shut her eyes as she heard a bunch of dragonets whisper something mean about her.

"Clay shouldn't get that close to the monster."

"Is Clay finally banishing her?"

Clay led Peril into a room where all the dragonets of destiny (except for Glory) were standing.

"Whatever you s-say, I didn't do it." Peril said with her voice cracking.

"We know you did!" Tsunami spat, "Who else could've have caused that explosion?!"

"Let's not make any accusations yet." Clay said holding Tsunami back.

Yet? Peril thought while a piece of her heart broke off, Why Clay? How can I make you love me back. Suddenly two dragonets burst into the room.

"We are having an important meetin-" Starflight started.

"Q-q-" One of them started.

"Queen Scarlet is here!" The other dragonet said.

"Q-queen Scarlet?" Peril said with shock and anger taking over her body.

Tsunami, Sunny, and her beloved ran out of the room leaving Starflight unable to move. Peril shook herself and gained control of her body once more. She ran out of the room and found an exit to Jade Mountain. Peril flew out and saw Queen Scarlet fighting off

Tsunami while Sunny was crying and Clay was trying to hold Tsunami back.

"You!" Queen Scarlet said pointing at Peril, "I was your family!"

"You are nothing close to family! Clay's my family!" Peril yelled forcing the words out.

Cleril: Please, No

"Then I'll take away the only family you've ever had!" Queen Scarlet yelled as she gathered fire in her breath, "Just like the Dragonets of Destiny ruined everything, EVERYTHING!"

"NO!" Peril yelled ramming into Queen Scarlet.

Queen Scarlet lost her balance but gained it after a few seconds. Queen Scarlet grinned at Peril's shocked expression.

"There is no way you can hurt me, not any more," Queen Scarlet said in Peril's ear as she headed towards Clay.

Clay was staring at Peril so he didn't notice the furious SkyWing about to grab him.

"Clay! Move!" Peril attempted, but it was to late.

Queen Scarlet grabbed Clay by the neck, but instead of breaking it Queen Scarlet flew away as the other Dragonets of Destiny were tending to the harmed.

Peril pumped her exhausted wings toward the direction Queen Scarlet flew and was determined that she would get her beloved back, or she would get revenge for him.

Cleril: No Matter What

Peril sped after the speck that was Queen Scarlet. With steam trailing behind her from the tears that dried up. I will find you. Peril promised herself, No matter what. Suddenly she felt a piercing pain in her left wing. She let out a yowl of pain, that no one could hear, or so she thought. She looked down at her wing and found a stick impaled in the middle. What is this?! Peril thought ripping the stick out of her wing. Another jab of pain surged through her wing, and made her drop the stick with a pointed stone on the end. She cried out in pain again and fell out of the sky.

"Help!" She yelled, but no one could hear here.

She crashed onto an open field scaring away any animals around her. She groaned in pain as the world around her became darker and darker.

What is this place? Peril was alone in a cave lit up with beautiful blue crystals.

"Help!" Peril flinched at the echo of the voice.

"Fire will blaze, You'll be stuck in the maze, It's a lie, He will die, Unless it's restored, Before it has roared."

Peril woke up with a start and was greeted by another jab of pain from her wing. What just happened?

Sorry for the short chapter, I was in a hurry but I wanted to update for you guys, another update is coming tomorrow and the Truth or Dare with the dragons you guys created will be posted tomorrow, thanks for the support!

Cleril: I. Must. Escape.

Peril looked at her wing, the one full of pain. What is that?! Peril yelled in her head. She examined the object stuck in her wing. Wood. Peril thought to herself as she grabbed onto the wood causing her pain. Come on! Do it! Peril yelled out in pain as the ripped out the piece of wood from her wing. Wait... why won't it melt? Still wincing from the pain she examined the object more closely. A shiny, silver, glimmering, sharp arrow-shaped object was attached to the end. A spear! Peril realized. Another jab of pain went through her wing as she screamed in pain once more. Suddenly something grabbed onto her tail and pulled.

"We finally caught one! Finally!"

Peril could only hear some words (that she didn't understand) till something hard hit her head causing her world to become as black as a jet.

Sorry guys! I think I might've broken my computer (probably because I spilled water on it) and now the cursor won't respond properly, but I'm trying! Ima upload more when I get this thing fixed.
